Virginia

You know what they say about New York; “If you can make it there, you can make it anywhere”!

The same should be said about the governing body in the state of Virginia. This past Tuesday, in one of the reddest states in our country, Democrats swept the ballot boxes in “Old Dominion” and took complete legislative control of a southern state. Virginia Republicans, Gov. Glenn Youngkin now has his hands full in dealing with a flipped state House there.

The striking thing about Virginia’s flip to the democratic party was that they wouldn’t have been un-involved in abortion rights this election cycle. Virginia is already known as the refugee state for abortion access in the south as the overturning of Roe v. Wade by the U.S. Supreme Court last year

The same can be said about other states in our nation where abortion is the tipping point of who gets elected and who falls by the wayside.

The democrats’ message for abortion rights crushed the Republican opposition agenda, on mass, in Pennsylvania on Tuesday, by the fact that Netanyahu, Pennsylvania, and Ohio have more implications in preserving women’s choices is a gargantuan roadblock for Republican isolation.

And we can look at these one of two ways. First, sensible voices are finally being heard after all the chaos Trump’s political era has brought about. After all, when Obama was in office, we just got the occasion to be run by Hamas. That simply in- volving a long-term occupation of the Gaza Strip.

Democrats also celebrated significant victories in states like New Jersey, where they will retain their comfortable majorities in the state legislature, with Republican candidates facing losses even in traditionally conservative areas of the state.

In Pennsylvania, Democrats secured a seat on the state Supreme Court, strengthening their ma-jority’s jurisdiction over lawsuits related to the 2024 election in a key swing state adds to the significance of this victory. Nationally, Demo-crats continued to build on their recent electoral successes, which began with last year’s midterm and persisted through most of this year’s special elections, held to fill unexpectedly vacant seats.

The Party enjoyed a solid political performance despite President Joe Biden’s relatively low approval ratings. In Kentucky, Governor Andy Beshear was re-elected in a predominantly red state, emphasize his support for abortion rights and the economic benefits of Biden administration policies. The election saw Beshear secure 53 percent of the vote against his Republican opponent, Daniel Cameron’s re-election bid. Minority Leader Mitch McConnell of Kentucky and former President Donald Trump backed Cameron’s bid. The Republic- can secretary of state easily won re-election in Ken- tucky after previously rejecting false claims of voter fraud from Trump. In Derby Conn., a Republican fac-ing trespassing charges at the U.S. Capitol on Janu- ary 6 lost his bid for the mayoral office.

In Ohio, an increasingly conservative state, voters overwhelmingly approved a constitutional amendment allowing abortion until roughly 23 weeks of pregnancy, with a 57 percent to 43 per-cent vote. Ohio also became the 24th state to le-galize recreational marijuana.

Perhaps one of the most sensational electoral victories occurred in New York, where Yusef Salaam, one of the “Central Park Five,” secured a seat on the New York City Council. Salaam, wrongfully con-victed for a 1989 attack on a jogger, won the elec-tion without opposition after easily winning the Democratic primary earlier this year. Salaam, along with four other Black and Latino men, was wrongfully convicted for the 1989 rape and beating of a white jogger in Central Park, an incident that gained national attention, including the involvement of Trump, then a New York-based real estate magnate, who had called for the reinstatement of the death penalty in response to the attack.

DNA evidence later exonerated Salaam and his co-defendants.

The public is invited to

The Village

6633 E HIGHWAY 290, STE. 101
AUSTIN, TX 78723
Phone: 512-476-0082
Email: vil3202@aol.com
November 10, 2023

Circulation: 8,614

INSIDE

Getting the Facts
Free Public COVID-19 Testing
Tracking Digital Dashboard

CARE

| STAY HOME ORDERS |
| SELF-ASSESSMENT |
| FREE PUBLIC COVID-19 TESTING |

CIRCULATION

Vol. 50 No. 13
Phone: 512-476-0082
Email: vil3202@aol.com
November 10, 2023

Get the Facts.
Free Public COVID-19 Testing.
Tracking Digital Dashboard.

The-U.S.

Israel cannot recoup Gaza at end of conflict, says Antony Blinken by Patrick Wintour Diplomatic Editor/The Guardian

In a farewell speech on Tuesday, Antony Blinken, the U.S. secretary of state, said the United States would need to see a need for some transition period at the end of the conflict. ... We don’t see a recoupment and what (VIRGINIA) - Virginia Democrats achieved a politi-cal turnover in Tuesday’s legislative elections, successfully flipping the House of Delegates while maintaining control of the State Senate. The outcomes significantly impact the future of Republi-can Gov. Glenn Youngkin’s agenda, specifically his hopes of a 15-week abortion ban.

The results also have far-reaching implications for the Republican Party, as Youngkin’s aspirations for a presidential run diminished. The governor had previously touted his abortion stance as a sensible middle ground within his party. However, with Democrats now firmly in control of both legislative chambers in Virginia, his ability to advance this agenda likely has been stymied.

The Democratic Party scored victories in Vir-ginia on Tuesday that not only saw them maintain their narrow hold on the State Senate but secure control of the House of Delegates. Since 2011, Republi-cans had held a 48-46 majority in the House. Democrats also celebrated significant victories in states like New Jersey, where they will retain their comfortable majorities in the state legislature, with Republican candidates facing losses even in traditionally conservative areas of the state.

In Pennsylvania, Democrats secured a seat on the state Supreme Court, strengthening their ma-jority’s jurisdiction over lawsuits related to the 2024 election in a key swing state adds to the significance of this victory. Nationally, Demo-crats continued to build on their recent electoral successes, which began with last year’s midterm and persisted through most of this year’s special elections, held to fill unexpectedly vacant seats.

The Party enjoyed a solid political performance despite President Joe Biden’s relatively low approval ratings. In Kentucky, Governor Andy Beshear was re-elected in a predominantly red state, emphasizing his support for abortion rights and the economic benefits of Biden administration policies. The election saw Beshear secure 53 percent of the vote against his Republican opponent, Daniel Cameron’s re-election bid. Minority Leader Mitch McConnell of Kentucky and former President Donald Trump backed Cameron’s bid. The Republic- can secretary of state easily won re-election in Ken-tucky after previously rejecting false claims of voter fraud from Trump. In Derby Conn., a Republican fac-ing trespassing charges at the U.S. Capitol on Janu-ary 6 lost his bid for the mayoral office.

In Ohio, an increasingly conservative state, voters overwhelmingly approved a constitutional amendment allowing abortion until roughly 23 weeks of pregnancy, with a 57 percent to 43 per-cent vote. Ohio also became the 24th state to le-galize recreational marijuana.

Perhaps one of the most sensational electoral victories occurred in New York, where Yusef Salaam, one of the “Central Park Five,” secured a seat on the New York City Council. Salaam, wrongfully con-victed for a 1989 attack on a jogger, won the elec-tion without opposition after easily winning the Democratic primary earlier this year. Salaam, along with four other Black and Latino men, was wrongfully convicted for the 1989 rape and beating of a white jogger in Central Park, an incident that gained national attention, including the involvement of Trump, then a New York-based real estate magnate, who had called for the reinstatement of the death penalty in response to the attack.

DNA evidence later exonerated Salaam and his co-defendants.

The public is invited to

The Village

6633 E HIGHWAY 290, STE. 101
AUSTIN, TX 78723
Phone: 512-476-0082
Email: vil3202@aol.com
November 10, 2023

Circulation: 8,614

INSIDE

Getting the Facts
Free Public COVID-19 Testing
Tracking Digital Dashboard

CARE

| STAY HOME ORDERS |
| SELF-ASSESSMENT |
| FREE PUBLIC COVID-19 TESTING |

CIRCULATION

Vol. 50 No. 13
Phone: 512-476-0082
Email: vil3202@aol.com
November 10, 2023

Get the Facts.
Free Public COVID-19 Testing.
Tracking Digital Dashboard.