Ira “L.J.” Williams

First born son of LaVar Ball, McDonald’s All-American, freshman superstar at UCLA, second overall pick by the Los Angeles Lakers, and potential NBA All-Star. All of these titles have been given to him as aresult of his father, LaVar, saying that the son was better than Michael Jordan.

However, it was not merely his father who was boosting Lonzo higher due to the amount of hype his father was giving him. When LaVar Ball said that his son was better than Michael Jordan, and that LaVar’s son would be the NBA Rookie of the Year. Some even believed that he would be an All-Star in the upcoming season. However, after his first couple of games in the NBA Summer League, people questioned whether he would be able to play in the NBA. Is it because of the high expectations that they had for him? Or is it because he is feeling the pressure that has been placed on him since high school?Lonzo Ball will have plenty of opportunities to prove himself in the upcoming NBA season.

This week is officially the beginning of the end, it concludes my first quarter in high school. This has most certainly been the most challenging as well as the most rewarding experience of my high school career. I feel rejuvenated. The scholars and staff alike offer an inundation of support that I have found essential to completing the assignments with the best quality.

Halloween Month

It has come, the month of spookiness, Halloween! At school, in student council, we are working on posters for a school fundraiser called boo-grams. A boo-gram is a candy gift that you buy for a friend or they buy for you. The boo-grams are delivered to students as a surprise. Also, it is the most idealized state as well as a symbol of beauty, freedom, and success.

The Help

Do you remember that movie about the maids in “The Help” that won the best picture Oscar? It was about civil rights and the struggle for equality. It was a powerful film that depicted the harsh realities of segregation and discrimination. The maids in the movie were portrayed as being strong and determined, fighting for their rights and dignity.
