

Ezekiel Elliott CUT by Cowboys Official

by MIKE FISHER | FAN NATION

(FRISCO, TX) - Zeke is out.

The Dallas Cowboys have made one big decision in franchise history with Ezekiel Elliott, set to cost $16.7 million against the cap, being told on Wednesday that he's being released.

Tony Pollard is locked in now with $10 million for 2023. Zeke never was locked in, with Dallas saving $5 million if cut now and $11 million is designated as a post-June 1 release. (The Cowboys will use the latter tool, we're told.)

We are told the Cowboys were always prepared to eat dead money on Zeke and bid him a full goodbye, but that could have depended on his willingness to accept a massive pay cut to remain at The Star. ... but that in a meeting with owner Jerry Jones - an audience deserved by Elliott given his importance to the franchise - Elliott declined that arrangement.

It is obvious that he was unwilling to do that because the fading two-time rushing champ believes he can get a better deal (and a bigger role) elsewhere.

And so in a monumental move, the seven-year Ezekiel Era is over.

Michael Irvin shows video of encounter with Marriott employee; refiles lawsuit in Arizona

by Scooby Axson
USA TODAY

(USA TODAY) - For the second time in less than a week, Michael Irvin and his attorney held a press conference to provide an update on their ongoing dispute with Marriott International over the details of an interaction between the Pro Football Hall of Famer and a female hotel staffer.

Irvin and his attorney announced Tuesday they have filed to have the case dismissed without prejudice in a Texas federal court and refiled in Arizona.

The new case, filed in Arizona Superior Court, lists six defendants, including the accuser, who is referred to as "Ms. Doe," and three other hotel employees. The other defendants are Marriott International and Renaissance Hotel Operating Company.

The staffer has accused Irvin of inappropriate behavior, including unwanted touching and crude language during an incident Feb. 5 at Renaissance Phoenix Downtown. Marriott was ordered to provide the name of Irvin's accuser and a video that shows what happened.

Following the accusation, the former Dallas Cowboys receiver was subsequently removed from making appearances as an analyst by the NFL Network and ESPN while he was in town for the Super Bowl.

"The damage caused to Mr. Irvin by Defendants' actions has been swift and catastrophic, devastating Mr. Irvin personally and professionally," the new lawsuit states.

"Mr. Irvin brings this action to clear his name in Court and begin the process of trying to restore his reputation and professional career."
