Share your vision for the future of Austin Parks

Fiesta Gardens, 2101 Jesse E. Segovia St. - Austin, TX 78702

(AUSTIN, TX) - The Austin Parks and Recreation Department (PARD) is launching the Long Range Plan for Austin's parks and recreation system, and we need your input! At the first series of the open-house style community meetings you will have the opportunity to share YOUR ideas on how we can improve Austin's parks, facilities, and programming. Take part at one of our five fun, family-friendly events across Austin.

ages more than 300 parks and more than 200 miles of trails. As Austin's population has boomed, growing more than 20% since 2010, PARD has been challenged to provide enough parkland for new and existing residents. In 2018, Austin's parkland per 1,000 residents will fall to 20 acres, down from 23 acres in 2014. PARD hopes that by planning now, they can reach their goal of 24 acres per 1,000 residents by 2028. Additionally, the future of the Austin's park and recreation system is impacted by shifting trends in recreation and the emergence of more sustainable park practices.

The City hopes that a more complete picture of the community and how it uses parks and recreation facilities will result in a plan that can better meet the needs of a growing and changing population. Our Parks, Our Future 2018-2028 is funded in part through contributions from the Austin Parks Foundation.
