Harvey in New Book, Former NFL Wife Challenges Steve Hall

Shanae Hall, a former NFL wife and now an Atlanta-based businesswoman, to often serious relationship advice joins her mother, Rhonda Frost, a once tom mom and now an Atlanta-based businesswoman, to offer serious relationship advice.

Why Do I Have To Think Like a Man? How To Get the Man (October 2010, HarperPaperback/Publishing, Hall and Frost’s book shows women why snagging a life partner doesn’t require thinking like a man” as Harvey teaches. Instead, they say it’s about raising standards and “dating smarter”.

“Rules about nagging and accommodating the man sexually, so she will benefit nothing-back truths about baggage, intimacy, what men and the authors’ own dating drama. The book reveals nothing-back truths about deal breakers, commitment, baggage, intimacy – what men really want, and getting what you want in return. And to say the authors have “born there, done that” in love, marriage and the world experiences with marriage, divorce, domestic violence, single motherhood, being cheated on and being the “other woman.”

Vote early for Bill White October 18 - 29

As Governor of Texas:

- Make education a priority by improving public schools, cutting the dropout rate and making 2 and 4 year programs more affordable.
- Help create good jobs by attracting new companies to Texas and allowing small businesses to grow.
- Fight for everyday Texans against skyrocketing electric, utility and insurance rates.
- Scale up successful returning veterans initiatives and ensure our veterans receive the respect they deserve.

Join the Texas Legislative Black Caucus and the Texas Coalition of Black Democrats in voting for early, Bill White, October 18 - 29

“His record as mayor of Houston is tremendous: he has a very energetic record; spearheaded under his tenure true affordable housing mechanisms/financing/combining/development, especially in blighted low-income communities. He steered Houston’s economy in spite of the economic downturn; his support of a healthy inclusive economy for small, minority and women owned business and his compassionate hands-on response for survivors of Katrina and Rita weigh heavily in my decision to support Bill White for Governor.”

A New Kind of P.E.

At some schools in Texas, a new kind of physical education has been introduced, which focuses on promoting a healthy lifestyle and overall well-being. This innovative approach aims to make physical education more engaging and fun, while also helping students develop important life skills. The program emphasizes teamwork, cooperation, and individual responsibility, as well as encouraging students to explore and enjoy a variety of physical activities. Through this approach, students are more likely to develop a lifelong habit of physical activity, which can have positive effects on their health and well-being.

Candidate Karin Crump Block-Walking Throughout Travis County

As the general election approaches, candidate Karin Crump who is running for Justice of the Peace Precinct II, has been intensifying her campaign. For couples of months, Karin Crump has been phone-banking, block-walking, and sending mailers to the voters of this district. The 180,000 voters within her district are particularly split between Democrats and Republicans. However, for a couple of years, the Republicans have been able to win that district. But, Karin hopes to reverse this trend by winning to win the Justice of Peace Precinct II. Moreover, she strongly believes that her qualifications would help her win JP II.

Karin has a passion to serve the people living within her district. Consequently, for the past couple of months she has been block-walking her entire district asking for their votes. This week Karin and couple of volunteers block-walked the North-West section of her district, which, includes Lago Vista. According to Karin, "block-walking is the one of the best ways to reach out to the voters." Karin has noticed that during her campaign block-walking, people are talking, asking that the candidate would go to their areas. Moreover, the volunteers, like Austin strongly believe that she is the better candidate, therefore, they want to communicate to the not to vote for Justice of the Peace Precinct II. For instance, Austin mentioned that "he was block-walking to let the voters know that Karin would make a better judge because she has the experience in law; consequently, she would be able to render judgments that are not her opinion.

In summary, candidates, like Karin Crump who is running for Justice of the Peace Precinct II, has been intensifying her campaign. For couples of months, Karin Crump has been phone-banking, block-walking, and sending mailers to the voters of this district. The 180,000 voters within her district are proportionally split between Democrats and Republicans. However, for a couple of years, the Republicans have been able to win that district. But, Karin hopes to reverse this trend by winning to win the Justice of Peace Precinct II. Moreover, she strongly believes that her qualifications would help her win JP II.

As November 2, 2010 approaches, the candidates are campaign throughout their districts. All these races are important because their decisions and political beliefs will affect the way that the State of Texas is governed. One of the most important races is the 3 of Appeal Courts which covers the 24 counties of Central Texas, such as Bastrop, Bell, Blanco, Burleson, Caldwell, Cooke, Coryell, Erath, Lampasas, Lee, Llano, McCulloch, Mills, Mills, Runnels, San Saba, Schleicher, Sterling, Tom Green, Travis and Williamson Counties. Moreover, the 3rd Court of Appeals is an intermediate appellate jurisdiction of both civil and criminal cases appealed from lower courts in twenty-four counties of Texas coming from the lower courts. Since the 3rd Courts of Appeals covers Travis County, it also reverses cases dealing with local and state government. Moreover, the candidates running for the 3rd Court of Appeals are Kurt Kuhn and Melissa Goodwin.

Kurt Kuhn is the Democratic candidate running for the 3rd Court of Appeals. Kurt Kuhn has several qualifications that a judge needs such as, being impartial and also able to work with other judges of different political affiliations. Just recently, he was endorsed by Republican judges. Consequently, Kurt will take his participation in the 3rd Court of Appeals so that he can work across party lines. Moreover, Kurt has gained valuable experience in appellate law. Some of his experience includes serving as an assistant professor teaching appellate advocacy at the University Of Texas School Of Law and also serving as an assistant solicitor general for the State of Texas. As an assistant solicitor general, he has represented the state in both civil and criminal appeals.

Moreover, Melissa Goodwin is the republican candidate for the 3rd Court of Appeals. Melissa has ignored several attempts for an interview, there is not much information about Melissa Goodwin that we know about. However, if she is running for judge she must be able to speak to the media that represent the counties. Moreover, the media throughout the 3rd Courts of Appeals serve as a way to inform the voters so that they can choose the best candidate to represent the county.
New York Yankees in Game 3 of ALCS ready for the invasion of the Bronx Bombers

By Lyle Spencer / MLB.com

The Yankee Stadiums of the baseball world are feeling quite an achievement by every good tonight. This is an organization who are feeling really big deep in the heart of this team. Now, they have a chance to be a part of something special.

If you look at the history of the Yankees, you can see that they have been unkind to the ballclub over there. The Angels, the Rangers in the postseasons past, have been unkind to the Yankees' lead horse. Nolan Ryan, rested and ready for his club even though he may not be able to do that all day long in a successful screen on the home field.

The Rangers would be, of course, the only one tonight that I believe in momentum. It's a big rivalry. That's what makes the difference.
