About the Cover

The African American Cultural and Heritage Facility is a three-part project that includes: (1) Restoration of the historic Dedrick-Hamilton House, (2) Construction of a 4,000-square-foot building with meeting space, offices and a multi-purpose room, and (3) a mosaic mural in the outdoor courtyard commissioned by Art in Public Places. The mural pays tribute to the African American community in Austin.

The project grew out of the African American Quality of Life initiative and contributes to its goals of business and economic development and support of the arts, culture and entertainment. The Capital City African American Chamber of Commerce will be housed on site. The facility will include an African American Culture Heritage District and African American culture events throughout the city.

The Dedrick-Hamilton House was owned by the family of Thomas Dedrick, one of the first freed slaves in Travis County. The home, built around 1880, was in one of the earliest African American communities in East Austin. Residing in the house, Dedrick's eldest son, William, and his wife, Sarah, engaged in benevolent work in the African American community.

The connecting link between the historic house and the new building was carefully differentiated from the original house in terms of design and material use. The goal of this connection is to serve as a functional backdrop to the historic house and new building, using careful design to avoid overwhelming the historic house.

About the Paper

The Villager Newspaper, is a community service weekly that is published and distributed every Friday. The 6,000 copies are distributed in neighborhood businesses, dining establishments, beauty salons and barber shops, pharmacies, clubs, the airport, grocery stores, churches and newsstands in North-east Austin, Montopolis, downtown Austin and East Austin. The Villager is a free paper that's solely supported by advertisement.

Brief History of The Villager Newspaper

The Villager Newspaper is a publication of the Black Registry Publishing Company (BRPC). The BRPC was founded by T. L. Wyatt in 1969 for the purpose of publishing a classified directory of Black-owned businesses in Austin. The first issue was published in 1971, and has been in continuous publication ever since. The directory still remains an information-based resource for individuals interested in contacting African-American businesses in Austin.

In 1973, Wyatt realized the need for a weekly publication that could report the latest in positive news about the African-American community. He noted that most news reported the major media was usually negative. Thus, The Villager was born. Since its inception, The Villager has experienced continuous growth in the Austin market.

T.L. Wyatt, Publisher and Editor of The Villager Newspaper

"I believe that each and every citizen should have access to a newspaper. One should not be deprived of reading the news simply because they cannot afford to buy a paper."

T. L. Wyatt

About the Publisher/Editor

T. L. Wyatt is a fifty-one year resident of Austin, moving here from Lubbock, Texas in 1962. He is a graduate of Bishop College, doing his graduate studies at the University of Washington. He has been actively involved in the Austin community for many years. To name a few activities: He was the first Black to join the Austin Jaycees, breaking the color barrier; worked to recruit others to join the former all-White organization; ran for political office; presently sits on the board of directors of the Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP); a member of the City's Private Industry Council; served on the city's first Austin Cable Commission; served as president of Austin Centex Chapter of the National Business League (NBL) for ten years, and is a founding member of the Capital City Chamber of Commerce (CCCC).

DISCRIMINATION IS RARELY THIS OBVIOUS, BUT IT'S JUST AS REAL. AND JUST AS ILLEGAL.

If the landlord gives you the runaround or says:

“We don’t take kids.”

“The apartment you asked about on the phone has been rented.”

“We only take people who speak English clearly.”

“We don’t take teenagers.”

“The ad was wrong – the rent is really $50 more.”

“I can’t assign you a handicap parking space.”

THAT COULD BE HOUSING DISCRIMINATION.

The only way to stop housing discrimination is to report it, so we can investigate it.

AUSTIN TENANTS’ COUNCIL

The federal Fair Housing Act prohibits discrimination because of race, color, religion, national origin, sex, family status, or disability.

The Greater East Austin Youth Association (GEAYA) is a volunteer organization established in 1975, to provide organized and structured sports activities for the economically disadvantaged youth of East Austin. Since its inception, GEAYA strives to provide quality programs for boys and girls in the central city. The principle for these efforts is to install and reinforce a strong sense of values in our youth. Thus providing a safe and fun environment for competitive participation is a necessity.

In FY2009 GEAYA will continue to serve approximately 2500 youth in year round special activities that include Cheerleaders Season Opening Day Pep Rally, Halloween Extravaganza, Annual Family Football Banquet, Little League Baseball Opening Day Ceremony, Football Camp, and Annual Cheerleading Session.

Our primary focus is to continue to provide safe and structured sports activities for our youth and to embrace the cultural aspects of our community while seeking to increase diversity in the Juneteenth celebration.
